

2016 ANNUAL REPORT

JEFFERSON COUNTY COURT OF COMMON PLEAS PROBATE & JUVENILE DIVISIONS

JEFFERSON COUNTY JUVENILE DETENTION CENTER

JUDGE JOSEPH M. CORABI

Juvenile Court

Annual Report 2016

I present to you the 2016 annual report of the Jefferson County Juvenile Court. Not only does this report offer documentation of 2016 statistics, but an explanation of the programming offered by the court to serve the youth and citizens of our community.

The administration of justice within the Juvenile Court system is founded upon concepts of fairness and individualized treatment to all who become participants in the juvenile justice system. Real justice neither excuses nor condones offensive acts, but rather is in recognition that the general public should be protected and the offender should be held responsible for acts of misconduct.

The administration of real justice is an understanding that each juvenile is an individual and must be afforded individualized treatment. The administration of justice utilizes the services available of juvenile-oriented agencies and programs, appropriate to each individual's need with the hope of returning a useful and effective citizen to the community.

The court strives to be a leader in bringing together all community agencies that serve juveniles (schools, drug & alcohol treatment providers, mental health treatment providers, and public service agencies) to serve at-risk youth. With the collaboration of all community partners and the team approach to serving at-risk youth, the court has been able to offer more community-based services. The court continues to be active in finding new programs, new treatments and new community partners to better serve at-risk youth of Jefferson County.

In 2016, Juvenile Court sought to create new programming for youth throughout the summer months. The Summer Youth Program is a daily program for at-risk youth that offers positive experiences and counseling services among their peers. Additionally, in 2016, the court partnered with county agencies to undertake the truancy issue in Jefferson County and begin a School Liaison Program, by hiring a school liaison to intervene with students accumulating absences.

The court has consistently worked with the county commissioners in showing fiscal responsibility in general fund appropriations. The court significantly reduced its general fund appropriation over the past ten years. In 2016, Juvenile Court received approximately $1,737,803.76 in funding from federal and state grant sources. The court has and continues to explore all options for funding in order to reduce its need for county general fund dollars.

Jefferson County Juvenile Court has a highly trained staff committed to serving at-risk youth and families of Jefferson County. The court, through collaboration, team work, and efficient operations is contributing to the administration of justice and betterment of the community.

Juvenile Court

Jefferson County Juvenile Court is located on the 3rd floor of the Jefferson County Justice Center at 16001 State Route 7 in Steubenville, Ohio. Juvenile Court hears all cases relevant to delinquent and unruly children, juvenile traffic offenders, dependent, neglected, and abused children, as well as cases involving parentage and custody issues. The vision of the Jefferson County Juvenile Court is to provide appropriate services to families in need while maintaining a sense of fundamental fairness in the administration of justice.

In order to continue and expand its array of services, the court has actively sought funding above and beyond the appropriations from local government in an attempt to continue, and expand, its array of services. For calendar year 2016, Juvenile Court has had a total budget of $1,632,174.88. The general fund of Jefferson County appropriated $739,357.18 to Juvenile Court. Of the general fund budget, $892,817.70 was returned revenue for the general fund. Additionally, the court generated $1,342,153.20 of outside revenue through various state and federal subsidies, advancements and grants.

Funding for programming comes from a range of grants and contracts with the Ohio Department of Youth Services, the Federal Government, the Ohio Department of Job and Family Services, the Jefferson County Educational Service Center, among others. The following pages describe the funding Juvenile Court receives.

IV-E Administration - Probation Enhancement Grant

A Federal, quarterly reimbursement grant designated to probation services for at-risk juveniles. In 2016, the Probation Enhancement Grant generated approximately $637,998.47.

IV-E Placement Grant

A federal reimbursement grant for out-of-home placement of juvenile offenders. This program allows Juvenile Court to recover 68% of placement costs, on a monthly basis, if the juvenile and placement agency meets all federal guidelines. In 2016, this grant recovered approximately $208,800.96.

Ohio RECLAIM

RECLAIM is a funding source which encourages courts to develop community based options to meet the needs of juveniles. Ultimately, the grant is based on the number of juvenile felonies adjudicated each year and the number of juveniles placed as part of their disposition. The Ohio Department of Youth Services awarded Jefferson County $474,838.64 in Fiscal Year 2016.

CSEA Contract

This federal contract is for magistrate services for Juvenile Court and is a pass-through from the Ohio Department of Job and Family Services. The contract amount for 2016 was $395,650.49.

Transportation Program

The Court received $17,000 from the Ohio Department of Job and Family Services, through a partnership with the local, Jefferson County Department of Job and Family Services, as a means to assist youth and their family with transportation to important meetings and various appointments.

Overall, the court is proud of its efforts aimed at maintaining a balanced budget and will continue to seek outside sources of revenue to implement important rehabilitation programs.

TYPES OF CASES

Juvenile Court hears cases of alleged delinquency, unruliness, and juvenile traffic offenders. Additionally, it has jurisdiction to hear cases of child abuse, neglect and dependency, and private complaints for custody, as well as certain adult criminal cases such as contributing to the delinquency or unruliness of a child. The following is a description of the types of cases heard by this court:

- Delinquency: cases in which a youth is charged with what would be a crime for an adult
- Unruly : cases in which a juvenile is allegedly “wayward/disobedient” or truant from school
- Dependency: cases in which it is alleged that a child has been abused or neglected by a parent or other person
- Paternity/Child Support: cases to determine parentage and collect support
- Traffic: cases in which a juvenile is charged with violating traffic law
- Custody/Visitation: cases in which the parties disagree concerning with whom a child should live or visit
- Adult: cases in which an adult contributes to the delinquency or unruliness of a child

JUVENILE COURT PROGRAMS OVERVIEW

Juvenile Court provides several programs which are felt to accurately represent the court's vision. These programs represent the court's effort aimed at recognizing at-risk youth, and intervening with them in an appropriate manner, while striving to keep the family intact whenever possible. The goal of all programs established by the court is to administer swift and fair justice, as well as provide rehabilitative services to the youth and their families.

Over the past several years, Jefferson County Juvenile Court has sought to increase the number of programming opportunities for its at-risk youth and non-violent delinquent youth populations. Since calendar year 2000, the court has actively petitioned, through various competitive grant application processes (State and Federal), for the implementation of new and innovative programs that actively pursue a more proactive, intensive service delivery plan.

Court programs that have been established since calendar year 2000 were not developed to replace existing court programs but to assist and enhance the court's resource availability. With additional youth programs, the court can more effectively help its youthful offenders to not be a continued risk to re-offend but to become productive, law abiding citizens once they enter into adulthood.

Current court programs such as the Community Service/Restitution Program, and the P.R.I.D.E. Program continue to provide accountability and restorative justice practices for our at-risk and non-violent delinquent youth population. Juvenile Court's Mediation Program actively addresses school truancy and behavior issues; and the Drug Court Program continues to address drug and alcohol dependency issues.

MEDIATION PROGRAM

Central to the theory behind mediation is the opportunity provided by the court for affected parties to resolve their dispute via the assistance of a neutral third party, the mediator. In mediation, the parties control the outcome, and the potential exists for an agreed upon solution which preserves the essential interests of all of the disputants. This process also allows the parties to communicate perceptions, feelings, and information directly to one another in a controlled environment. Mediation also gives parties a sense of ownership both in the dispute and its resolution, making voluntary compliance with the outcome more likely than in the case of a court-ordered solution. The court utilizes four mediators, who divide the cases and hear them as needed.

Calendar year 2016 shows there were 165 truancy cases enrolled into this program.

TRAFFIC COURT

Since 2005, the Traffic Court Program has been a court-managed sanction incentive program that identifies first time and repeat juvenile traffic offenders. Traffic Court also provides alleged juvenile traffic offenders an opportunity to participate in traditional formal hearing proceedings such as an initial appearance, pre-trial, contested, and disposition hearing proceedings.

Upon adjudication for a moving traffic violation, the juvenile traffic offender will then be classified in to one of two tracks. These tracks include the diversionary track in which the violation can be dismissed upon successful completion of a set of sanctions, the adjudicated track in which disposition could include fines, court costs, community service, and license suspension.

COMMUNITY SERVICE PROGRAM

The community service program continues to be a successful alternative punishment for youth appearing at court. The program has held several projects of its own over the past year, consisting of activities to promote restoration and beautification within Jefferson County. These projects included litter pick-ups along the county's roadways and parks, recycling, planting the youth garden, public school clean-ups, and active participation with the county's annual fair. Not only do the citizens of Jefferson County benefit from these practices, youth participating in these endeavors learn about accountability, social responsibility, and positive productivity.

Over the past year, Juvenile Court has had 280 youth participate in community service throughout the county.

MALE & FEMALE P.R.I.D.E.

P.R.I.D.E. (Positive Reinforcement of Inner Determination and Endurance) provides youth the structure to better themselves both mentally and physically. The program is used to gain structure in the everyday life of at-risk youth. The male program provides a significant physical stress challenge for delinquent youth. Over the past year, there were 41 male youth enrolled in the program.

The Female P.R.I.D.E. program over the past year, has served as a great alternative for female youth that have come into contact with the court. As a result, there has been a steady increase in female participants. In calendar year 2016, 26 female youth were enrolled into the program.

JUVENILE DRUG COURT PROGRAM

Jefferson County Juvenile Drug Court Program began in 2003 through the Ohio Department of Youth Services Title II Grant Program, and has established itself as one of the top ten drug courts in the nation. The goal of the Jefferson County Juvenile Court Drug Court Program is to provide substance abuse related services to the youth of the county by developing a partnership with the youth and community through strength-based treatment services, court supervision and local agency support in order to reduce substance abuse and crime, in order to promote safety and facilitate the return of responsible citizens to the community

The court's Juvenile Drug Court Program has been able to provide an intensive service delivery plan, both from a medical treatment and court intervention standpoint, for non-violent delinquent youth that might exhibit moderate to severe chemical dependency issues. The Drug Court team members include a Drug Court Magistrate, Assistant Prosecuting Attorney, a defense attorney, school representative, an evaluator, Drug Court coordinator, Chief Probation Officer, and a treatment coordinator.

For calendar year 2016, 35 youth participated in the program, including 21 new cases and 14 cases carrying over from 2014. 15 youth graduated from the program successfully, with six youth finishing unsuccessfully.

SCHOOL LIASION PROGRAM

Beginning with the 2015-2016 school year, Juvenile Court embarked upon a collaborative effort with the Jefferson County Educational Center, four, of six school districts of Jefferson County, and various county agencies, along with the support of the county Board of Commissioners. One school liaison was hired with the purpose of intervening with students having attendance issues. The school liaison becomes involved with a youth and his/her family at the earliest hint to attendance problems. The school liaison works with the student and the family to understand why the student is missing school, and makes every effort available to fix the underlying problem. Additionally, the liaison ultimately filed unruly charges, as a last resort, on behalf of the school, and follows through with the court hearing and after. During the 2015-2016 school year, the four participating school districts saw approximately 2,300 fewer absences occur than during the prior school year.

This program proved to be a large success in its first year. As such Juvenile Court is in the planning phase of creating a larger, all encompassing attendance program aiming to divert youth from probation and detention placement. The Court is securing funding and developing a team of liaison officers with the intention to provide support and needed resources that will guide the student and family to meet attendance standards. The court will continue to seek to reduce the number of formal truancy cases filed in the academic year and the number of days absent from school each year.

JUVENILE SUMMER YOUTH PROGRAM

In 2016, Juvenile Court began a Summer Youth program for youth coming in contact with the Court. This daily program strives to expose youth to positive, community serving experiences, and also sees youth engage in group counseling sessions with their peers. This is a collaboration among the Juvenile Probation Department and Village Network Professional Services. The Summer Youth Program engaged 47 youth from June through August in 2016.

TITLE IV-E AND COURT CUSTODY

The Jefferson County Juvenile Court is a Title IV-E court allowing the court to receive federal financial funding that assists with the placement of youth for those families in need. From time to time, the court may order the placement of a juvenile in to a residential treatment center to address the child's ongoing behavioral and/or mental health problems. At this time, custody of the juvenile is placed with the court, and the child's probation officer serves as the case manager, monitoring the case through completion.

The Juvenile Court utilizes various residential placements to address the multiple needs of at-risk youth in Jefferson County. Usually these placements include an average length of stay of approximately six months, and satisfy a need that outpatient services cannot. Placements such as group homes and residential facilities inside the state have been utilized over this past year, including:

- The Village Network, St. Clairsville, Ohio & Wooster, Ohio
- Foundations for Living, Mansfield, Ohio
- Redemption House, Youngstown, Ohio
- Belmont-Harrison Gender Specific Program, St. Clairsville, Ohio
- Oakview Rehabilitation Center, St. Clairsville, Ohio
- George Junior Republic, Grove City, Pennsylvania

In 2016, there were a total of 14 juveniles were placed at the above six programs.

PROBATION 2016

Probation is the most widely used concept, and disposition, ordered for adjudicated youth. Depending on the level of offense, misdemeanor, felony, or unruly, offenders are placed on probation for a period of thirty days to one year, with other sanctions as ordered by the court. Probation will be longer than minimum requirements when there are issues of non-compliance.

Juvenile Court employs seven probation officers, each having a caseload in which they continuously monitor adjudicated youth with regular visits at the court, at home, at school and in the community. The probation officers report a juvenile's progress to the judge, have the power to arrest probationers, and file violation of probation charges within the court. They also report and make recommendations to the court concerning a youth's well-being. With increasing numbers every year, the probation staff constantly works to create innovative strategies to help juveniles and their families be rehabilitated.

In 2016, the probation department supervised the probation of 189 juveniles, 177 of which were new cases.

PROBATE COURT

Jefferson County Probate Court is located on the 4th floor of the Jefferson County Courthouse, at 301 Market Street in Steubenville, Ohio. Probate Court has a wide variety of services and obligations it must offer from year to year. The court oversees the administration of estates, which involves overseeing transfer of a decedent's probatable assets to his/her beneficiaries and heirs. The court is responsible for testamentary wills such as the safekeeping of wills, estate administration, and the distribution of a decedent's assets from a will that has been admitted into probate. The court's additional will responsibilities include conducting a trial when a will is contested in order to determine the validity of the will.

The court has the jurisdiction to approve guardianships, adoptions, changes of name, land appropriations, appointments to boards and commissions, and testamentary trusts (those created by a will). Lastly, Probate Court is responsible for the issuance of marriage licenses, registrations of unrecorded birth certificates, and corrections to birth certificates.

Jefferson County Probate Court operates with funds provided by general fund monies from the county. In addition to the general fund monies it receives, Probate Court is able to generate funds through the collection of fees and court costs. Additionally, a substantial proportion of these collected fees and court costs are turned over to the State of Ohio.

Juvenile Detention Center

Annual Report 2016

Our annual report is an overview of the past year and includes comparisons to prior periods. Graphs, charts, and tables highlight facility utilization, population characteristics, programs, and services. The document offers historical references targeting performance, trends, and fiscal responsibility.

The Ohio Department of Youth Services conducted its annual inspection on September 9, 2016. The center is in compliance with 100% of both mandatory standards.

Pennsylvania counties of Washington and Beaver remain primary customers. A decline in the use of juvenile detention continues and is having a negative impact on revenue.

General fund monies provided 40.31% of the budget, operating tax levy 18.14%, and outside revenue 41.55%. Revenue generated by sale of detention beds and services was $780,895.00. Over the past 19 years, juvenile detention has generated 48.8% of its total operating expenses to total $1,330,808.

There were 505 admissions, with an average length of stay of 13.24 days. Our average daily population was 18.49 juveniles, representing a facility utilization rate of 92.45%. Felony offenses represented 10.3%, misdemeanor offenses 76.63%, and violation of probation offenses 4.4% of admissions. Males accounted for 71.22% and females 28.78% of the population, respectfully.

A high percentage of our population abuse, or are dependent upon drugs and/or alcohol. Last year, staff received training in the emergency use of Naloxone (Narcan). A significant number of our children are prescribed medications for treatment of behavioral or emotional problems.
